

Q: How can I migrate all my projects to a new machine?

There is currently no functionality in WIPO Sequence which allows bulk export of project data.

The projects should be exported one by one from the original instance of WIPO Sequence on the old machine, and re-imported to the new instance of WIPO Sequence on the new machine.

These steps could be followed in this order:

1. From your old machine, open WIPO Sequence then open each project, and click "Export".
2. Copy over these project .zip files to your new machine.
3. On your new machine, from the projects home page, import each of the projects by clicking on "IMPORT PROJECT" .
4. These projects should now be visible on the project home page of your new instance of WIPO Sequence!
