How to Participate on the Forums

Requesting an account to participate on the different Development Agenda Forums

This is a two stage process (if you already have an account used for a WIPO Wiki, the same account can be used here):

- First, fill in the form to request an account ("last name" means family name and "first name" means given name).

- An automatic e-mail will immediately be sent giving a link to a page allowing you to create a username and password.
    - For usernames of country representatives, please use the following format: a two-letter code for the country followed by first initial and last name, for example us-jsmith (John SMITH from USA) and either kr-parke (PARK Eun from Korea).
    - For usernames of representatives of organisations, please use the acronym or recognizable abbreviation (which doesn't match a country code) for your organization followed by a hyphen and a name, for example wipo-ajazairy.

When you have an account, please log in, in order to create the account in the wiki, then send an e-mail to ali.jazairy @ wipo.int (remove spaces please) requesting access to post comments.

We will then add you to the list of users who can post comments to the forum.

Notifications / Watches

When a user participates on a page, the user automatically receives email notifications for each subsequent actions on the page. This means the user is watching the page.

If you would like to receive notifications without posting comments, please click on Watch and tick "Watch this page". You will then be subscribed to receive notifications.
