WIPO | GREEN
The Marketplace
for Sustainable Technology

WIPO GREEN is an interactive marketplace offered free of charge by the World Intellectual Property Organization (WIPO), a UN specialized agency.

It promotes the innovation and diffusion of green technologies by connecting technology and service providers with those seeking innovative solutions.

The WIPO GREEN international network already includes:

70+
Partner organizations from six continents

2,400+
technologies and needs from 40+ countries

9,400+
page views per month

The new WIPO GREEN Experts Database brings technology seekers and providers together with experts like you.

We are looking to expand the database. Professionals in assurance and advisory services, business, engineering, finance, intellectual property, law and more are all encouraged to sign up. Registration is free.

As a WIPO GREEN Expert, your expertise and services will be directly promoted to WIPO GREEN users, innovators and technology seekers.

Just visit our website to register and become part of one of the world's largest networks of climate-change stakeholders: www.wipo.int/green

What our Partners and Users say about WIPO GREEN

“WIPO GREEN gives technology transfer a global dimension. Enterprises and institutions easily get the best solutions to their technology challenges, while solution providers have boundless opportunities to address similar challenges in different parts of the world.”

McLean Sibanda, CEO,
The Innovation Hub (South Africa)

“WIPO GREEN makes contacting experts easy and lets us identify real needs for environmentally sound technologies (ESTs) globally. Through the WIPO GREEN Network, both developing countries and developed countries are able to share benefits and profits from ESTs and their related intellectual property.”

Yorimasa Suwa,
Japan Intellectual Property
Association and Asia-Pacific
Industrial Property Center (Japan)

“A matchmaking event co-organized with WIPO GREEN in 2015 led to 16 letters of intent by prospective buyers and sellers of technologies and demonstrated the value of bringing together various players in the clean technology space. WIPO GREEN is an important partner of the Asian Development Bank (ADB) in accelerating the transfer and diffusion of clean technologies to developing Asia and the Pacific to address climate change.”

Priyantha Wijayatunga,
Principal Energy Specialist, ADB
(Philippines)

“WIPO GREEN made it possible for us to have easy access to technologies, services and – most importantly – people with expertise and relevant information.”

Edward Mungai, CEO,
Kenya Climate Innovation Center
(Kenya)
